Playlists

For NEJM Journal Watch Audio General Medicine subscribers, we recommend using the Playlists section to access your audio programs. Up until May 2021, a new playlist comprised of 4 lectures that include the audio segments and CME have been delivered every 2 weeks. Starting in May 2021, your new content playlists will be delivered weekly as individual article segments that do not include CME as well as one weekly collection that includes all of the article segments + the CME test. To make testing quick and easy, each collection test is worth 1 CME credit.

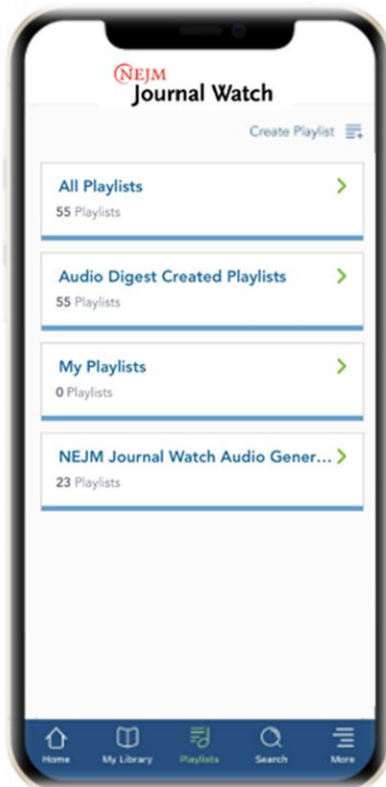

Credit Tracker

You can track your credits at any time by clicking CREDIT TRACKER at the top of the webpage. On the mobile app you can access your credit tracker by scrolling down on the home screen. You will see a quick tally of this current year's credits, but you may view and print a transcript for any date range by clicking MY TRANSCRIPT.

To get the most out of the credit tracker, you should add the following in your profile:

1. State of licensure
2. End date of your reporting cycle.

To enter or change this information, click your name at the top right of the screen on desktop and select Work Profile.

The mobile app makes it easy!

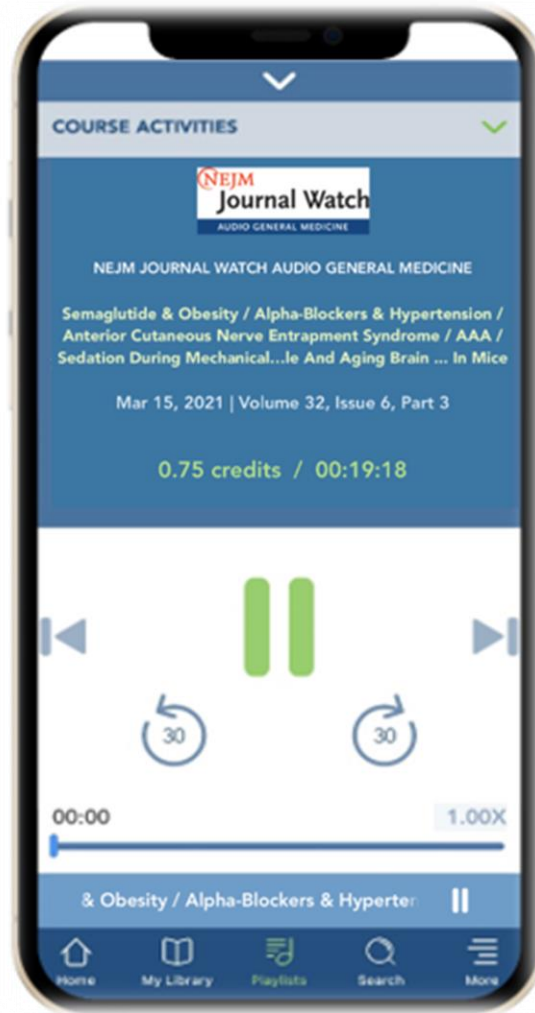

Testing

Starting in May 2021, we are releasing new content every week – each weekly playlist will contain two types of content: individual segments without CME and one collection that combines the individual segments + includes a 1 credit CME test.

Each collection test will appear just beneath the audio player on our website. On our mobile app, the post-test can be accessed by clicking COURSE ACTIVITIES. Completion of the post-test is necessary for CME credit.
